Momentum is a measurable quantity, and the measurement depends on the motion of the observer. For example: if an apple is sitting in a glass elevator that is descending, an outside observer, looking into the elevator, sees the apple moving, so, to that observer, the apple has a non-zero momentum.

A linear induction motor (LIM) is an alternating current (AC), asynchronous linear motor that works by the same general principles as other induction motors but is typically designed to directly produce motion in a straight line. Characteristically, linear induction motors have a finite primary or secondary length, which generates end-effects, whereas a conventional induction motor is arranged ...

Highlights We propose to use electromagnetic (EM) devices for both vibration damping and energy harvesting. This study presents modeling and testing of linear EM dampers connected with four circuits. A good match is observed between the theoretical modeling and experimental testing. The promises and challenges of using EM dampers in structures for both purposes are discussed.
